“ It wasn't long ago that my husband got to meet Uncle Willie. We went there to fix Aunt Cynthia's computer. We got to sit and talk with them. We learned the cute story of how their life long love began. They shared dinner with us. We left grateful for the time with them. He built the most beautiful doll cradle for me when i was very young. We still have it. What he could create out of wood was amazing.

“ I remember him sitting in granny's kitchen with the family strumming his guitar They would start songs an sing until they couldn't remember the words. Always with a smile and a laugh. His way with animals was amazing. They knew he had a kind soul. He was a great part of my childhood memories
